Cover Photo: Oreorchis wumanae T.P. Lin was discovered by Dr. Ching-Hwang Liu in May 2019 in a mountainous area of Hualien Co. at an elevation of about 2000 m. Oreorchis wumanae is one of the 5 Oreorchis species native to Taiwan. Among them, O. fargesii, a widespread species in China, has a similar morphology to O. wumanae because both have a very short rachis thus making the inflorescence look like it is subcapitate. However, the ornamental intertwined markings on the petals of O. wumanae clearly differ from those of O. fargesii and any other species of Oreorchis in Asia. Photographed by Sheng-Kun Yu.

The journal publishes original research articles, scientific notes, and invited or submitted reviews.

Submission of Manuscripts

The manuscript should be submitted electronically in Microsoft Word format to the Online Submission site (<http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/tai>), or sent directly to Taiwania Editorial Office. For reviewing purpose, please specify the type of the submission (research article, review, or scientific note), and the category (1. Taxonomy, 2. Anatomy and Morphology, 3. Cell Biology and Physiology, 4. Ecology, Evolutionary Biology and Animal Behavior, 5. Genetics, Molecular and Developmental Biology). Submitted manuscript should not be submitted nor published elsewhere (including submissions in any other language, unless written consent from Taiwania editorial office is obtained). The manuscript should be read and approved by all co-authors.
